GLENDALE KIWANIS CLUB CHARTER PRESENTED AT BANQUET CELEBRATION

Auditorium of Chamber of Commerce Is Crowded by Many Visitors From Many Points of California's Business Districts

COLONEL CAM THOM IS TOASTMASTER

Leslie B. Henry, International Vice President and State Governor of the Organization
Delivers Working Credentials

The charter presentation meeting of the Glendale Kiwanis club at the chamber of commerce auditorium last night will live long in the memory of the large number of Kiwanians and guests in attendance as one of the real worth-while events which it has been their pleasure to attend. Long before the hour for the banquet, local members, out-of-town Kiwanians and guests began to fill the hall, and the crowd in attendance was a representative live-wire body of business men with their wives and guests. At the banquet table seats had been prepared for 225, and the hall had been beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The evening's entertainment was opened with music by Herb Henning's orchestra, which played during the banquet and for the dance which followed. An elaborate menu had been prepared by the new proprietors of the Glen Inn, which was one of the enjoyable parts of a most pleasing program. At first it was thought the seating capacity was inadequate to accommodate the crowd, as Fullerton club alone had 40 members present in a body, while Long Beach, Alhambra, Los Angeles and Santa Barbara clubs had a good representation. Fullerton club entertained the crowd with snappy songs and cheers, and antics which gave visitors a true idea of the social side of the Kiwanis clubs, and let them in on the secret which is causing this order to rapidly spread throughout the United States and Canada. Another example of what it means to be a Kiwanian was furnished by T. Paul Dazell, Chas. Sheed, E. S. Cortelyou and W. W. Reilly, the Santa Barbara members, who only yesterday had been brought into the fold of a new Kiwanis club organized at Santa Barbara. The three members had started out for Glendale late in the evening and had "kidnaped" Reilly on the road, left his machine in a farmer's yard, and brought him forthwith before the Kiwanis tribunal to give an account of himself and the new Santa Barbara club.

Col. Cam Thom maintained his reputation as a humorist and toastmaster, but was often at his wit's end to cope with the Fullerton club, which had come prepared to show the crowd a real good time. Dr. Adams opened the evening's program with the invocation, and various members of out-of-town clubs were called upon for remarks by the toastmaster. These short and witty talks were interspersed with music by the orchestra, and Wm. Bode, one of the liveliest of the Glendale club and a musician of ability, was called upon for a saxophone solo, and was encored for four numbers before leaving the stage. Wit and humor was the order of the program, until the more serious duties of presenting the charter were taken up.

Leslie B. Henry, international vice president and state governor of the Kiwanis clubs, came over from Pasadena to deliver the address and invest the local club with full working credentials. His address was an exposition of what Kiwanis stands for, its great mission, its duties, and the social and more serious sides of its work, were discussed by the speaker in a clean, concise manner. From only two clubs a few years ago, in Southern California, the number has grown rapidly, and there are now 25 Kiwanis clubs in the state.

Triumph of Justice Is Apparently Real Need in the Courts

Why can not a criminal trial be marked by some desire to cause the triumph of law and justice, instead of being a long, drawn out effort to defeat both, asks Henry James in his comment on the day's news this evening. Then he adds, "If criminal courts operated in the interests of justice, and to promote respect for law, the trial of the Phillips woman would now be over and done." Mr. James says the public is not interested in fiction concerning the woman and is tired of her picture grinning from the open page. He says the public wants to know whether Mrs. Phillips committed a murder or did not do it.

In The Listening Post, Jas. W. Foley speaks of government from within. He says restraint may come from without but morals come from within and in his philosophical way discusses the matter. Dr. Frank Crane says he does not expect to live long enough to see the many things come true that he would like to, but he enumerates them just the same.

SATURDAY NIGHT BANKING IS DISCUSSED

National Exchange Club
Considers Week End
Pay Checks

Whether or not one or more of Glendale's banking institutions will remain open on Saturday afternoons, was the main subject for discussion at the luncheon and meeting of the Glendale branch of the National Exchange club, held Wednesday noon at the Broadway Inn. This suggestion was made by G. C. McConnell and the purpose would be to take care of the Saturday pay checks. It was also suggested that one bank be open Saturday evenings. In the discussion it was stated that considerable money was being spent in Los Angeles by workmen who had earned the same in Glendale, due to the fact that they were unable to get their pay checks cashed here on Saturday afternoons.

A committee consisting of G. C. McConnell, W. C. Wareing and Ed Radke was appointed to secure data on the subject from the banks and merchants of Glendale and to submit the report at next week's meeting.

In the interest of the "Trade at Home" movement, it seems only fair to the business interests of Glendale that the workmen have banking facilities on Saturday afternoons.

The meeting yesterday noon was presided over by W. B. Kelly, and those present numbered 24, including several guests. They were W. B. Block, James K. Todd, David Todd, E. H. Spicer, Gus A. Lavison and Mr. Grow.

Chairman Harrower of the civics committee reported the receipt of a letter from the Pacific Electric Railway company in which it was requested that a representative of the club be sent to Los Angeles to confer with that company in regard to the extension of the East Broadway line to Verdugo road. Attorney George H. King was selected to make this trip to Los Angeles in the interest of the National Exchange club.

Mr. and Mrs. George Whitaker were selected to attend the Kiwanis club banquet last night in place of Dr. and Mrs. Harrower, who were unable to attend.

Ed Radke of the park committee reported that the club would be well represented at the picnic of the Glendale Credit association on August 16. He also reported that the Patterson avenue swimming pool has been opened and is now being enjoyed by Glendale's swimmers, both young and old. Mr. Radke was instructed by vote to communicate with City Manager Reeves and to arrange for a water slide at the pool—this to be a gift of the club to the city, in case arrangements have not already been made to provide this necessary apparatus.

A BLUFF---CALLED

In the orderly process of upbuilding, a newspaper intent upon service before self, has little space to devote to mark the mouthings, misstatements, vilifications and absurd poses of a rival filled with envy.

Yet, although the Glendale Daily Press has little space to devote to a publication that has lost its opportunity in Glendale and cannot come back, strict consideration for truth compels the Glendale Daily Press to notice, in passing, the pitiful attempt of the Glendale News to assert a position of first importance in this city. The assertion is so senile that it is worthy of printing in its original form:

WHY IS THE GLENDAL E EVENING NEWS FIRST IN VOLUME OF ADVERTISING IN GLENDAL E EVERY DAY?

Not because advertisers wish to be charitable to the News or have any special inclination toward the paper or any member of the staff. But—

Because the News carries their advertising into the homes of the people of Glendale by means of a bona fide circulation.

Compare our advertising patronage with others and inspect our list of paying subscribers.

THE GLENDAL E EVENING NEWS —not distributed with, enclosed in, wrapped about or in any way connected with a Los Angeles paper.

THE GLENDAL E EVENING NEWS IS NOT FIRST IN VOLUME OF ADVERTISING IN GLENDAL E EVERY DAY. IT SELDOM EQUALS THE ADVERTISING VOLUME OF THE GLENDAL E DAILY PRESS—ANY DAY.

The second statement is probably true, for we know of no paper in California that has so small a personal following in which there is so little potentiality, so disagreeable, uncooperative a personality as that which pervades the cash-and-carry business concern known as the Glendale Daily News.

We therefore have no ground to doubt its assertion that what advertising it carries is:

"Not because advertisers wish to be charitable to the News or have any special inclination toward the paper or any member of the staff."

Nor would we doubt that the advertiser believes the News carries their advertising into the homes of the people of Glendale by means of a bona fide circulation. The News is presumed to have some circulation. It has been fourteen years or more in Glendale acquiring it. It has undoubtedly been a long and painful task, handicapped as the little paper has been with a personality which, by its own statement, has not even invoked its advertisers to "have any special inclination toward the paper or any member of the staff."

The value of a newspaper is in exact relation to its dominant personality. If there is no personality it is a collection of machines for the putting of words in ink on paper. Not words of leadership, of hope, encouragement, friendliness, community betterment. No—just words—no inspiration.

When Joseph Pulitzer died, millions of dollars were written off the value of the plants of the New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Yet for years Mr. Pulitzer had been totally blind, living on his yacht, far from both newspapers.

Should the editor of the Glendale News sever his connections with his newspaper, would it make any difference? It would seem not, from his own statement, since not even its advertisers:

"Wish to be charitable to the News, or have any special inclination toward the newspaper or any member of the staff."

It is a brave thing for a newspaper, which depends for its very life and future on friendship and following, to thus, in its own type, acknowledge that nobody has even charity for it. That it has no special reason for existing.

The next statement is, however, of particular interest to the Glendale Daily Press.

"Compare our advertising patronage with others and inspect our list of paying subscribers."

On the cash-and-carry system it is unquestionable that the Glendale News rings up on the sacred fetish of the office, the cash register, every single subscription. And they are not numerous.

But since the Glendale News invites comparison of advertising patronage, coupled with its untrue caption: "Why Is the Glendale Evening News First in Volume of Advertising in Glendale Every Day?" let us compare it with the advertising volume yesterday, the day of publication of the libel on truth.

A careful check of both papers shows in inches of advertising:

Glendale Daily Press	2,040
Glendale Daily News	1,802

238

ON THE DAY OF THE PROUD BOAST, THE GLENDAL E DAILY NEWS HAD ACTUALLY 238 INCHES LESS ADVERTISING THAN THE GLENDAL E DAILY PRESS.

This in spite of the fact that for that day the Glendale Daily News had combated the business district for advertising, cut rates and dragged out advertisements—for it has stated its volume is "not because advertisers wish to be charitable to the News or have any special inclination toward the paper or any member of the staff." It has no following. It admits it.

The lesson the Glendale News is learning today, through the envenomed watching of the wonderful growth of the Glendale Daily Press in advertising and circulation, is the lesson that: Efficiency and demand of the community are ending the careers of small town editors of small town newspapers, who cling to the days of cash-and-carry, of monopoly of the small town news centers.

BURGLAR ALARM SPRINGS POLICE

Considerable excitement was caused at an early hour this morning when the burglar alarm of the Glendale National bank, corner of

Boulevard Vamp Must Go, Says Chicago Police

CHICAGO, July 27.—A concerted drive on the "boulevard vamp"—Host deadly of the female species—was ordered today by Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris.

"A vamp on the sidewalk is worse than two in the tonneau," Policewoman Mary Ready declared, as she prepared to stalk the wary females.

War on the sidewalk flappers was ordered when police learned that Michigan boulevard was becoming fraught with danger for Chicago's unprotected males.

"If they'd only vamp the guy on foot instead of the Adonis at the wheel, it wouldn't be so bad," Policewoman Ready, the chief vamp detector said. "They insist on decoying some handsome young man just as the traffic cop signals 'go.' Result: A jam, a busted fender, probably harsh words and fine."

"And, of course, it was the chic little thing with the naughty smile that was to blame."

"It's not safe for a man with an eye for women to drive down Michigan boulevard. The vamps are out in scores and if they don't land him at one corner, they will at the next." The first skirmish with the vamps netted six—mostly giving their professions of models and manicurists. They were charged with disorderly conduct.

"The vamp is shy of arrest," Miss Ready exclaimed, as she hid behind a corner lamppost.

"When we locate her we have to trail her patiently, and then swoop down on her—if we don't, Miss Vamp will take to her heels and run like—well, she'll run away."

REALTY BOARD HEARS FROM EDITOR

Head of Industrial Section of L. A. Times Tells of So. Cal.

"The California native sons are not awake to the wonderful growth Southern California is making," said J. Schneider, industrial editor of the Los Angeles Times, the speaker at the luncheon of the Glendale realty board yesterday noon. "They do not realize how near to Paradise this section is. In the past Southern California has been regarded as a place for old folks, but now the younger generation is coming here to assist in the growth. The increase in population demands industries. There are 15,000,000 people in the western states and there must be manufactures to take care of this population."

"I feel that the realtors of Glendale, Los Angeles and the entire of Southern California are aware of what is going on. You should get a general vision of the scope of what is taking place all around you. Never in the history of the world was such a vast amount of resources collected in such a small space as are right here in Southern California. The latent wealth of this section is wonderful, and the possibilities for development are far greater than any of us realize. The real estate man, of all men, should believe in the future of Southern California. The mineral wealth here has hardly been touched, this referring to both metallic and non-metallic."

"The population here is permanent. The population is going to increase for an indefinite period. Glendale should endeavor to make itself an ideal residential city. Of course, there is always a section along the railroad that cannot be used for homes, but as a whole Glendale is essentially a city of dwellings. Those who lay out the cities of this section should do so with a vision of what the city can not help but be 10, 20, 30 years from now, and they should be laid out to accommodate this growth."

"If we but take care of what nature has given us we will be able to provide industrial and commercial features for the population that is sure to come from all parts of the world."

A letter received by Mrs. Edith May Osborne with regard to advertising in the Los Angeles Times was read and suitable action taken. A communication from the National Board of Realtors relating to the establishment of a national board of information was received and filed.

The board went on record as being against the proposed law, which would put all city, county and state railroad matters under the direct supervision of the state railroad commission.

PURCHASERS FILL SHOPS ON OPENING OF DOLLAR DAY IN LOCAL STORES

Glendale Credit Association, Backed by the Glendale
Daily Press Advertisements, Sweeps Campaign to Successful Conclusion

BUSIEST DAY IN MANY MONTHS, REPORTED

Citizens of the City Cooperate With the Merchants in Making Biggest Merchandising Turnover in the History of This District

Dollar Day, instituted by the Glendale Credit association and backed by the Glendale Daily Press, is going over today with an unprecedented "kick," according to reports sent in by the different merchants of the city. The direct result of the powerful editorial, "Buy all you can tomorrow," which appeared in the Glendale Daily Press yesterday, has been evidenced on every hand by the greatest stream of shoppers this city has ever known. The streets of Glendale are literally crowded and the patronage that is being given to the various establishments shows that the shoppers are not out in force through idle curiosity—their aim is to take advantage of the many wonderful bargains that local store-keepers have arranged for them.

"The results are simply wonderful," said one merchant. "Never saw anything like it," said another. "The buyers here are a bunch of regular fellows," said still another. At an early hour this morning an unusual number of Glendale shoppers were on the streets. The thoroughfares at 9 o'clock when the sales started, were as crowded as they usually are at 11, and as the minutes wore away the crowds increased. By 10 o'clock the sale was in full swing, and by noon all records had been broken.

Pendroy's department store was thronged with bargain seekers and they certainly found what they were looking for. The main floor was so crowded that it was almost impossible to get through.

Up at Gordon's, people were even lined up in the street, waiting to get into the store.

People were certainly taking advantage of the sale at Webb's, for the store was more than crowded. The Irish Linen store offered some fine bargains and it doesn't seem possible that Glendale has so many interested buyers, for every store in town was busy.

By 10 o'clock, Hatz's store reported that they had almost sold out their specials, and they certainly had an abundant supply, too. "Business was unusually good this morning," said Page Furniture company. "We give Dollar Day credit for this."

"Three cars in one hour—this looks like going some, doesn't it? Thanks to Dollar Day," said J. C. Pollock company, on West Broadway, and the sales continued all day. By noon seven were sold.

"The rush we are experiencing today is way ahead of anything we have thus far known," said the Williams Dry Goods company. Cornwell & Kelly, hardware, said: "All the clerks are being kept on their toes, this morning. Dollar Day is doing the trick."

"Shoes are going fast this morning," said Syms Brown company, dealers in high-class footwear. "Dollar Day is working wonders for us."

"Big business, lots of people today. This Dollar Day stunt looks good to us," said Brand department store. "Our dollar sale on tubes is proving a wonder," said the manager of the Auto Tire company.

"More people in our store than ever before," said the Becker Drug store.

Listen to Newton Electric—"There is an unusual amount of activity on the floor this morning. We give Dollar Day credit for this."

"We are crowded almost to the doors."

"Business is going great. The rush we are experiencing today is way ahead of anything we have thus far known," said the Williams Dry Goods company.

"Shoes are going fast this morning," said Syms Brown company, dealers in high-class footwear. "Dollar Day is working wonders for us."

MRS. MOYSE IS MAPPING LINES OF STUDY

Studies Chart Bristling
With Campaign Pins,
All Same Foche

By GERTRUDE GIBBS
On visiting the office of Mrs. George U. Moyse, vice-president of the high school, and looking at her desk one might imagine she was trying to invent a new game. Spread upon it is a large sheet of paper platted into squares and columns which bristles with pins stuck through squares of pasteboard of four different colors.

work, though like a game, it is hard to make it come out right. The pasteboard slips represent the different classes, freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior, and appealing though the suggestion might be, green has not been chosen to represent the freshmen.
It is the efficient way, adopted by Mrs. Moyse and Vice-Principal Ferguson of working out a program because of the school congestion. Instead of having the teacher's name at the top of the column, the room number is placed there because few teachers can be sure of the same room for two periods running. However, Mrs. Moyse says the teachers who have been longest in service are favored and it is the new ones who will have to do most of the running.
The program will provide some new things the coming year. For instance, extra teachers for the gym department will make it possible to segregate the restricted and the corrective classes. The classes first named will include students who are physically unable to do the whole work of the course. Corrective classes will be for those who need special exercises for the development of certain parts.

Special English work will be provided in the English department for students who perhaps after taking the work failed to secure a passing average. Such a boy or girl may be good in literature and weak in grammar and composition. Instead of being required to take the course again, he or she can enter one of the special classes and make up deficiencies, thus saving a waste of time.
The foreign language department is to be an especially strong one. All the instructors are college graduates with master's degrees, and the French and Spanish teachers speak the language fluently. One of the newly elected teachers, Miss Pemberton, who speaks a beautiful liquid French, has lived and studied abroad. The Spanish teacher, Miss Alonzo, was born and educated in Spain, and Mr. Hoblit, another of the Spanish instructors, lived for years in South America. Castilian is taught in the California schools because it is standard and any one speaking it can understand South American Spanish. Miss Mabel Taylor, who joined the school the middle of the year, is also from South America.

Sociology and economics will be combined in two good courses which will be provided in the history department and which will have to do with social problems.
The art department will offer not only frehand drawing, but commercial art, applied art, costume designing and interior decoration. It will be closely affiliated with the domestic science department, and it is expected that Miss Hobush, who is now in Paris studying costume designing, will make interesting contributions when she returns the first of November.
In the music department the school band will be continued and developed. The course will include harmony, piano, girls' and boys' glee club, the history of music, sight-reading and orchestra work. Special classes for part-time students will be provided in sewing, commercial and shop work, so that the students can have special and individual instruction. It will be almost equivalent to having a tutor and will give them opportunity to take work along the line of employment they are already following or something else for which they wish to fit themselves. These classes are provided for young people who are under 16 and have not secured the credits required by the compulsory education law. Their employers are required to allow them four hours per week of daytime study.

VAUDEVILLE AND PICTURES AT T. D. & L.

"Price of a Kiss," New Act and "Sonny" At Barthelmews

"The Price of a Kiss," the new vaudeville act to be staged at the T. D. & L. theatre tonight and tomorrow evening, has been prepared and produced by Rex Taylor and Mel Brown for presentation over the Orpheum junior circuit. The cast, headed by Miss Wynn Ritchie, the fascinating young leading lady, is composed of seven excellent players. For real genuine vaudeville with "pep" and "kick," this act is all that can be desired. It is presented in addition to Richard Barthelmews in that human, lovable drama, "Sonny." Tonight is the last night of "Sonny." For a good show—real entertainment, take in the T. D. & L. tonight.

Gathered About Town

"Faith shall move mountains" we are told and anyone inclined to doubt this statement would surely have been convinced of its truth had they been walking along South Brand this morning about 8 o'clock.
A piece of popcorn, probably dropped from the sack of some child, had been crushed under foot, but, apparently not at all saddened by such treatment, was calmly moving along the walk. Interested by such a phenomenon, the pedestrian stopped to investigate, never taking the step which would have completed the crushing process and ready experienced by the enterprising piece of popcorn.

On closer inspection, a tiny black ant peered inquiringly up from behind the piece of food which he had been lugging home for breakfast. Seeing that the sun was no longer eclipsed by some huge object, he heaved a sigh of relief and went on with his task. Rather a big breakfast, only about ten times his own size, but, no matter, he would have some left over for lunch!
All the water mains in the city carry a considerable amount of sand and gravel and the high school plant which comes at the end of the line catches more than the usual amount of grit. It has therefore been necessary to install a sand trap where the supply enters the school grounds. The sand has cut out valves in a good many of the fixtures, causing the leaking of water, which fills up the cesspools.

W. R. HEARST IS DENOUNCED BY STIMSON

Aligns With Charles C. Moore for the United States Senate

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—"William Randolph Hearst's vicious and bitter attack on lawyers and their qualifications—or lack of them—to act as legislative representatives for the people of the United States, is deeply resented by members of an honored and capable profession," declared Marshall Stimson, noted progressive attorney and leader in civic progress. Mr. Stimson's criticism was occasioned by an editorial which appeared recently in Hearst's Los Angeles Examiner, which was headed "Business Men For Congress."

"Lawyers by their training and experience are too likely to be obstructionists, devotees of precedent, worshippers of the past," declared the editorial. "Lawyers are not to be depended upon to supply leadership in a changing, progressive world, where the past must be put behind and new precedents must be made. This is a business country. It ought to have a business congress."

"One unusual feature of this editorial, aside from its unwarranted attack on lawyers, is the fact that Hearst uses England as an example of the superior government to be secured from business men," said Mr. Stimson. "Ever since England barred Hearst and his newspapers from its territory for coloring news in favor of Germany and against the allies—this being the forerunner of the Associated Press' charges that Hearst's International news service was stealing news from the former—Hearst has been particularly bitter toward England."

"The other and stronger feature of the editorial is the fact that Hearst is supporting with his full strength Hiram Johnson, who in private life—yes, and even while being employed by the people as their senator—is a lawyer. It is more than possible that the picture of a lawyer drawn in the Hearst editorial had Johnson as a model—since the article dwelt on the obstructionistic and past-worshipping peculiarities of the lawyer as a legislator."

"Hearst should know Johnson and his traits. He has employed him, and caused him to be employed, often enough to know whether he answers the character portrayal outlined in the Examiner editorial."

Hearst's word-picture of Hiram Johnson will be remembered by the voters when they cast their ballots for Charles C. Moore—a business man—at the August election."

WRIGHTS BACK FROM TOUR

Spend Two Weeks in Yosemite and Ride Inland

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright and son Walter of 141 North Louise arrived home yesterday, after a wonderful three weeks spent at Yosemite. They spent two weeks in the valley, the remaining time being occupied with the trips going and coming. They went up by the inland route, returning by the coast, and their speedometer registered 378 miles going and even farther on the return. "Home certainly looks good," asserted Mrs. Wright.

They camped out during their entire stay and had a wonderful time. They made the hike to Glacier point, one of the hardest trails in a park where there are 1100 miles of trails. This particular one is two and one-half miles "straight up." The view of the Sierras from the top is magnificent. The travelers enjoyed a sunrise at the famous Mirror lake. Mrs. Wright also remarked upon the beautiful trail to Vernal falls. "One could stay a month just studying the structure of the rocks," she said.

There are 1200 guests at Camp Curry this season. Mr. and Mrs. Wright found a number of Glendale people also enjoying the beauties of Yosemite. Among them were the Shepherds and the Knoxes.

IGNACE SCHERB CELEBRATES 90TH BIRTHDAY

Oldest Resident of La Crescenta Is Booster in His District

LA CRESCENTA, July 27.—Ignace Scherb, one of the oldest residents of La Crescenta, celebrated his ninetieth birthday last Saturday. Mr. Scherb was born in France in 1832. He came to America when 20 years of age, resided in Omaha, Neb., for a number of years, where he operated a large baking business, supplying the Union Pacific Railroad company with all their bread. He was married to Caroline Lately and in 1886 came to La Crescenta, Calif. He has made a number of trips back to France, finally deciding to make La Crescenta his permanent home.

Enough happiness is wasted to supply the whole universe.

SANTA ROZALES LEAVES HOME

Santa Rozales, 10 years old, of 1342 Pico street, San Fernando endeavored to do the runaway stunt last night. Early in the evening Miss Santa left her home and headed south. Nothing more was seen of her until she was located by Mrs. Romeo of 408 South San Fernando road, just south of the city of San Fernando.

At 11:30 o'clock last night the Glendale police were asked to join in the search for the little lady, and about half an hour later the call came telling that Santa had been located.

ALLEGED SPEEDER IS ARRESTED

Andrew T. Caldwell of 2822 East Second street, was arrested by Motor Officers Collins and Booth last night, the charge against him being speeding. After being stopped Caldwell refused to sign a ticket, but when taken to the station he was willing to comply with the request. The time for his hearing was set and he was permitted to go on his way.

DISBELIEVED SIGNS
Leslie Linkel, a driver for the firm of Gordon & Harrison, sand and gravel contractors, was arrested yesterday on a charge of driving his heavy truck on one of the Glendale streets, which bore the sign, "No Heavy Driving."

Silkworms
They are one species of moth. The larva feeds upon the leaves of the mulberry tree and when it reaches maturity spins its cocoon in about three days. The cocoon is heated in an oven to kill the pupa, after which process the silk is reeled off and spun into threads. This industry was carried on in China 2600 years before Christ, but was not brought into Europe until about 500 years after Christ. Japan produces a large proportion of the world's silk.

Miss Ida Gordon of Los Angeles, a pupil in the Cumnock school of Oratory, will be the guest the latter part of the week of Miss Dorothy Watson, who will entertain her with a little dinner, at which David Gordon and Waldo Rathman will be guests. The dinner will be followed by a theatre party.

HICK FOLKS OF HOKUSVILLE DO DANCE, B'GOSH

Slim Jim, Sunbonnet Sue and Kin Hold Barn Social

Sunbonnet Sue, Sis Hopkins, Slim Jim, Jake, Percival, Sally, Mary Jane and Buster Brown. These are just a few of the many who enjoyed the barn dance at Masonic temple last night, given by the White Shrine of Jerusalem.

There were about 60 couples in attendance, and for the most part they came dressed appropriately for the occasion. A greater part of the evening was devoted to dancing, music being furnished by Jerry Parker's orchestra. As well as the old-time barn dances, there were the latest fox trots and one-steps, and all joined in, both young and old. The barn dances brought back fond memories of their younger days to a great many, and the entire affair was one not soon to be forgotten.

The spacious Masonic hall was decorated in Japanese lanterns and many-colored crepe paper festoons, fastened from corner to corner. At one end of the hall was a gypsy tent and fortune-teller, revealing to the surprise of many, their past and looking deeply into their future. Mrs. P. M. Custer played very well the part of the gypsy fortune-teller.

During the evening Miss Lois Naudain gave a fancy gypsy dance. Mrs. Libby Cutting and Mrs. Maud Smith gave a clever Dutch song and dance in costume.

Between the dances, punch was served, and at the close of the evening, doughnuts and coffee were served.

The committee in charge of the evening included Mrs. E. M. Cutting, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Custer, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith.

MACHINES MEET AND TANGLE

A machine being driven by Floyd B. Richards, 329 Ivy street, and a truck belonging to the Calla Lily creamery, collided before the residence at 352 West Park avenue at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The fender, the radiator rod and the front axle of the Richards machine were bent.

Another automobile driven by Leon Stiner of Bell, and a car operated by R. T. Chandler of 337 West Palmer, collided on San Fernando road yesterday afternoon. According to the report the Stiner car was trying to pass the Chandler machine, while another auto was approaching from the opposite direction. Finding it possible to complete the operation without striking the approaching machine, the Stiner car, it is reported, cut in front of the Chandler auto, causing that machine to run into the curbing. The windshield and the side glass of the Chandler machine were broken and the axle and steering knuckle were bent.

C. OF C. ASKS FOR FLOWERS

BOYS AND GIRLS HAVE CELEBRATION

The home of Mrs. M. S. Russell, 336 West Wilson, was the scene yesterday afternoon of a merry group of little boys and girls celebrating the ninth birthday of Sandy Russell, Mrs. Russell's grandson. The rooms were beautifully decorated by Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Bogan, in yellow and white. The table decorations were also yellow and white, the centerpiece being a large white birthday cake trimmed in yellow and with nine yellow candles. Tiny yellow and white baskets filled with candy were also used.

Mrs. H. J. Boyer and Mrs. Frances Mulvihill, aunt of Sandy, assisted Mrs. Russell in entertaining the little guests. Interesting games, music and stunts were greatly enjoyed during the afternoon, which passed all too quickly for the children.

The little friends present were Ethel Thompson, Dorothy Hill, Margaret Nichols, Mary Frances Thompson, Ross Russell, Jr., Robert Bullinger, Burnell Yarik, Robert Storm, and the honoree, Sandy Russell.

Sandy received many beautiful and useful gifts from his little friends and relatives.

Truths in Epigram

The Youth of a Nation are the trustees of Posterity. — Disraeli (1804-1881).

The object, Truth, or the satisfaction of the intellect, or the excitement of the heart, are, although attainable, to a certain extent, in poetry, far more readily attainable in prose.—Poe (1809-1849).

COLLEGE COMES NEXT

Many of the graduates of high schools in this community intend to enter college in the fall. That they will be able to do this without going far from home is a circumstance most gratifying. Of course the traditions of Harvard and Yale, handed down from their fathers, will take some of them east. By far the larger number will continue the educational process without leaving the state.

Part of the graduates will attend the University of California, of which there is a southern branch at Los Angeles. Others have selected California Tech, at Pasadena, an institution famed for the thoroughness of its scientific training, and for original research. The University of Southern California is to get a liberal share, while Occidental and Pomona colleges have been chosen by a large contingent. There always are high school graduates who turn to Stanford as their ideal.

All of the schools named, with the exception of Stanford, belong to this end of the state. Each one has its singular points of excellence. The scholastic standard without exception, is high. In these schools due attention is paid to athletic sports, some of the records made by students on track and in field having been unequalled elsewhere.

The quality of their schools, both the public schools and the ones that carry the student onward after graduation from the high schools, is a matter in which Californians take pride. This community has grown rapidly, has had to pay much attention to matters purely economic, but it never has neglected the important subject of education.

PLEADING FOR THE INDIANS

A plea for justice to the Pima Indians is made by a lay missionary who for years has worked among them. He speaks in praise of their industry and morals. They work, and there are few crimes committed by them. It is not of record that any of the tribe ever has killed a white man. The first soldier from Arizona to be shot in France in the great war, was a Pima Indian who laid down his life in France.

The experience of the Pima tribe is nothing novel. It has been the experience of every tribe. These Indians are being crowded out by the whites. They have been granted certain rights by treaty, and the rights, having become valuable, are desired, as ever has been the case, by the whites. It is a notorious fact, and shameful, that no treaty ever made with Indians has been kept by the government, although in many instances the Indians have been faithful to every pledge. The custom began early in the history of this country when good men of the Penn type thought it no wrong to buy a princely domain for a string of glass beads.

Since the Indians became wards of the nation, it is humiliating to admit that habitually they have been swindled. If they were accorded a certain area, in lieu of area already productive, they have been driven forth again, as soon as their second place of abode has been coveted. They have been robbed by agents, kept in subjection when they might have been trained for useful citizenship.

The Pimas need water for their land. They must have water, or the land will become useless to them. If they are denied the water, while there is possibility of securing it, there is a certainty that white men will have the land and the water, too.

CONDITIONS FOR MEXICO

According to terms laid down by Secretary Hughes, Mexico must enter into a treaty assuring protection of American lives and interests in that country. Such is a condition precedent to recognition of Mexico by the United States. It is said to have aroused considerable indignation below the Rio Grande. It is difficult to understand why any such emotion should have been stirred. It is customary for friendly nations to pledge themselves by solemn compact. If Mexico is willing to protect Americans, it is not being insulted by the request to do so. If it is not willing to protect them, assuredly the time for recognition has not arrived.

There is a strong desire among Americans for the recognition of the Mexican republic. Much respect is felt for the Obregon regime. It seems that the president is strong enough to hold lawless elements in subjection. Recognition would be of great benefit to Mexico, giving it a status that it could not hope to have while the recognition was withheld. At the same time, the people recognize the position of the administration at Washington as proper and fair. They would not advocate receding from it in any part. If Mexico wishes to be placed on a plane with other nations, it will have to act in accordance with the practices of other nations. It cannot make rules stipulating the attitude of its most powerful neighbor. It is at liberty to ask favors, but not to issue demands.

AN OFFICIAL HONORED

General Wood is much desired as executive head of the University of Pennsylvania. The position was offered him before he was requested by the President to become governor general of the Philippines. It was through the courtesy of the university that he was permitted to go to the islands, his place as head of the institution being kept open for him. Now the university begins to seek his return, and at the same time the pressure for him to stay at his post becomes accentuated. Here is the spectacle of one man whose services are desired in two widely different stations, the proffer of either of which must be regarded as a compliment to his ability.

In the islands General Wood found confusion bordering on chaos. Out of this he brought order. He found that the natives had had no respect for the regime that had preceded him. He won respect for himself and the administration at once. He analyzed the so-called clamor for immediate independence, and found that it was not the voice of the people, but that of politicians and self-seekers. His information touching this point has been of great value. The general desire of Americans is that the islanders shall have their independence as soon as fit for it. To grant them a government of their own prematurely would be a wrong, undoing the good that has been accomplished, and destroying the fruits of years of training.

It is to be hoped that General Wood may be induced to stay in the Philippines as long as shall be necessary. Just at present the university ought to be able to spare him, and in so doing, would perform what seems to be a patriotic duty.

I DO NOT EXPECT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I do not expect to live long enough, but I certainly would like to, or I should like to come back to this world on the day

When there are no more cemeteries; When we shall have outlived the fallacy of punishment and the theory that crime is cured by hurting criminals; When there shall be no more jails or penitentiaries but only psychopathic hospitals under the care of proper experts, to restrain and, if possible, to heal the morally diseased; When there shall be no more passports or tariffs, but travel and business shall be encouraged between all nations; When policemen shall no more be criminal hunters but welfare officers; When co-operation shall have replaced competition in labor, in production, and in transportation, and all competition shall be confined to ideas, to science and to service; When taxation shall no more be based upon robbery but based upon the principle of payment rendered for government service received; When the calendar shall be reformed so that no calendars will be necessary, but that a given weekday will fall upon the same date every year and every month; When all weights and measures shall be the same all over the world and based upon the decimal system; When money shall be the same in every nation, and all postage uniform; When every railroad shall have the same gauge; When every city, country, state and nation shall enjoy independence and self-government, all the disputes between them be settled by a world court, and the only armed force in the world be under the control of that court; When in every school shall be taught self-government, and every school be a training place in democracy; When democracy shall extend also to industry; When alcohol shall be recognized as a drug all over the world and placed under the control of the medical profession; When every physician shall be a health officer and under the control of the community, as policemen are now, and the state shall recognize that the health of every individual is a communal responsibility; When religion shall have shaken off the heathenism of the past, shall free itself from totem and tabu ideas, and from all autocracy; shall be based upon true psychological principles as established by science and shall be taught in the public schools; When democracy shall come of age and overspread the earth, so that the last remnants of autocracy shall disappear and the human race shall thus be able to grow its reforms instead of accomplishing them by violence; And when a woman shall be compelled to date her letters, and shall not be allowed to start in on the fourth page after she has finished the first. THE LISTENING POST

A great Philosopher and Teacher and Lover of Men laid down one time a law for the government of human beings.

Not for their government from without. But for their government from within. Restraint may come from without. But morals come from within.

No person was ever made moral by legislation. We need legislation. For the restraint of individuals who are the society.

And we need laws. And have them in plenty. But morals are a growth from within. Not a compulsion from without.

The boy is not saved from the spirit of playing hooky by restraint. By force or compulsion. He may be kept from the act. But not from the spirit. So the way to get the spirit of hooky out of a boy is by education.

A growth from within. A knowledge of the fact that he is himself evil.

So laws may restrain. But it is education alone that changes the spirit of men.

And so the great Teacher and Philosopher and Lover of Men laid down a rule for the government of a man by himself.

And through that government for the happiness of society.

He did not lay down a rule of force. A rule of compulsion.

A rule of direction by swords and staves and weapons and dungeons and the like. For he was not that kind of a Teacher.

He laid down a rule that meant government from within and not without.

It was that if a man wishes to do well he need only do by his neighbor as he would wish his neighbor to do by him.

A very simple rule. Only a few words.

And yet having within it a solution for all the trials and troubles and difficulties of men in their relations with one another.

It means that once practiced men would not steal. Lie, cheat, envy, hate, strike, injure anything like that.

It means that need would be helped. Necessity provided for. Grief comforted. Sorrow soothed. Pain allayed. Justice be done.

The employer would deal fairly with his workman. The workman would deal fairly with his employer.

There would be an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. And an honest day's pay for an honest day's work.

There would be no cheating within the law. No taking of unfair advantage. No making of shoddy goods.

It means that the whole industrial and moral and social system would be changed without law, without force, without fear.

Such a simple rule. All encompassing and potent. That is the only thing to solve the difficulties of human society.

And needing only the government of a man from within himself.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

On the Death of Sir Philip Sidney—By Henry Constable (1562-1613)

Give pardon, blessed soul, to my bold cries, If they importune, interrupt thy song. Which now with joyful notes thou sing'st among The angel-quiristers of th' heavenly skies. Give pardon eke, sweet soul, to my slow cry, That since I saw thee now it is so long, And yet the tears that unto thee belong.

To thee as yet they did not sacrifice. I did not know that thou wert dead before; I did not feel the grief I did sustain; The greater stroke astonisheth the more; Astonishment takes from us sense of pain; I stood amazed when others' tears begun, And now begin to weep when they have done.

Scientific Music is Latest Product of Kansas

"The science of music" may sound strange to artistic ears, but Prof. E. V. Floyd of the Kansas State Agricultural college is teaching it. He calls his course "The Physics of Music and Musical Instruments" and claims that it is the first attempt in the United States to give students the underlying scientific principles upon which music is based. The study treats of such subjects as the analysis of tone and why one violin string is better than another. "The time is past," says Professor Floyd, "when an artist is satisfied with knowing only his art. He is looking for the explanation of long known facts which have puzzled him. The art of music has always been far in advance of science. The secret of manufacture of the Cremona violin was known only to one Italian family, and it is only today, years afterwards, that scientists are discovering the lost art, which consists only of the fundamental scientific principles which underlie its manufacture."

No advanced word in science or higher mathematics is required; demonstrations are used. Many musicians have pondered over the law of compound tones. Professor Floyd compares the tone of a tuning fork, poor in quality, to that of the violin, rich in quality. He fastens a string to the prong of a tuning fork and then sets the tuning fork into vibration. He then applies different tensions to the string which causes it to vibrate as a whole, in halves, and in thirds. Then by comparison Mr. Floyd shows how the violin string vibrates as a whole, in halves, and in thirds, simultaneously.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHAT PRICE VIRTUE?

(Chicago Evening Post)

A young woman, seeking a situation as stenographer, charges that a business man took advantage of her presence in his office to make advances and attempted to force his undesired attentions upon her.

The man is arrested, locked up, and then released on bond. The bond is put at $200.

Whether the man be innocent or guilty has nothing to do with the point of this editorial.

The charges involved an attack upon virtue, upon the highest spiritual values of personality, and the accused is released on a $200 bond.

If the man had been charged with burglary or embezzlement it would have taken more than three figures to write any bond which could have released him. But these are offenses against property.

The incident is an illuminating and humiliating comment upon the distorted sense of values which obtains in our modern civilization.

If the $200 bond be due to the discrimination of an officer of the law, then he is unfit to exercise it. If it be due to the law itself, then the law should be changed.

IS MR. FORD RIGHT?

[From an Article in McClure's Prepared by Henry Ford in Collaboration with Samuel Crowther]

A majority of people are not mentally—even if physically—capable of making a good living. They are not capable of furnishing with their own hands a sufficient quantity of goods this world needs to exchange their unaided product for goods they need.

The average workman is more interested in a steady job than in advancement. Scarcely more than 5 per cent, while they have the desire for more money, have also the willingness to accept additional responsibility and work which go with the higher places.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

If criminal courts operated in the interests of justice, and to promote respect for law, the trial of the Phillips woman would now be over and done. Proceedings began with a postponement to a distant date, and the intimation that the date in question would be utilized for the naming of a still later time.

Meanwhile a certain type of reporter is permitted to devote his or her talents to creating sympathy for the prisoner who is charged with having lured an unoffending woman to a lonely spot and there beaten out the brains of her victim.

The public wants to know whether Mrs. Phillips did this or did not do it. If she did, as the public believes she did, then it wants her punished. It is not interested in fiction concerning her. It cares absolutely nothing for the mushy output of Phillips. It is tired of her picture grinning from the open page. It is frankly disgusted with the poses of the Phillips pair, and their protestations of mutual esteem. For all these things are beside the question.

For long weeks now the woman who says she sold the fatal hammer to Mrs. Phillips, and the other woman who says she saw the instrument used by a tigerish murderer, must be in suspense amounting to fear. They will be annoyed and harassed. Courts seem unable to protect even the witnesses that must be its instruments.

Why cannot a criminal trial be marked by some desire to cause the triumph of law and justice, instead of being a long drawn out effort to defeat both?

There are criminal lawyers in plenty who know the answer, they themselves being the answer.

Three little chaps recently ran away from their homes near by, and were captured without bloodshed, at Redlands. It seems that at that point they had a dispute as to their future activities. One, aged 8, wanted to go to New Mexico to herd sheep. A second, attained to the age of 9, voted for Old Mexico and a search for silver. The ten-year-old lifted his voice in favor of cotton raising in Salt River valley. Their contention was overheard, and all these several vocations had, for the time, to be abandoned.

These wee lads have the stuff of good citizenship. Perhaps after while each will be permitted to follow his own bent. The parents, who may have signalized the returns by a series of spankings, have nothing to fret about. There is a future captain of industry in each household.

Once more the machine that is said to detect a lie in the uttering has come into notice. Somebody in an eastern court wanted it tried on a witness. Properly and firmly, the judge threw the appliance out.

Wonders have been accomplished by delicately adjusted mechanisms. The one in question, however, is so manifestly a fake, that there could be no excuse for fooling with it.

The Wall street financier who has failed with liabilities of more than thirty-three millions, is an illustration of what may be accomplished by use of wind and water.

Such transactions as his do not belong to the realm of legitimate business.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

"Next time that I ask Bill Blake to share any sort of an outing with me you'll know it. And so will he."

"Bill meant well," said Mrs. Pilgrim.

"He is a selfish, inconsiderate, pig-headed Prussian," I said.

Here is the idea. Two couples of us, close friends, Pilgrims and Blakes, had planned a two-day automobile trip. We were genuinely enthusiastic about it. I like Bill—or I did like Bill—and I'm fond of Betty Blake. And the Missus likes the Blakes as well as it is humanly possible for her to like any one, barring me. There are times when she does not like me very well. We met at Bill's home to make the final arrangements and Toddy Marsh dropped in.

"Why not?" asked the rest of us, unenthusiastically. The fact is that I do not like Toddy at all. Mrs. Pilgrim puts up with him, and Betty Blake thinks he is low-minded. But he accepted the invitation as though we really wanted him. The first day out Toddy wanted to change the plans because he wanted to see some one in some town off our right of way. In the end the two cars separated unobtrusively and went their several ways, and so far as the Pilgrims are concerned the party was spoiled.

Now, here's the point I made with Bill Blake. I told him that he had no right to alter the arrangements made just because he liked Toddy Marsh. It showed a lack of consideration, I told him. Bill said Toddy is a good sort, and my wife says that Bill is a generous man, or he would not have asked Toddy. Even if we did not like him, he says.

That sort of generosity isn't generosity. It is lack of gumption in the first place, and lack of tact in the second, and a complete and utter lack of consideration for any one save Bill and his friend Toddy in the third. I'll have no more of such generous men. I prefer a man—or woman—who stops to think what may be pleasing to other people, to men—or women—who insist on having their own way all the time.

And they cannot fool me by labeling their confounded selfishness "generosity."

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA E. STEWART

There's a police court judge in one of our western cities that deserves to rank with Solomon. After listening to the evidence against three seven-year-old boys caught stealing watermelons from a freight car, he decreed that one should wash his mother's dishes for three weeks, another should sweep the kitchen floor whenever it needed it for the same time, and the third should be the mother's handy man running errands and helping as desired. At the end of the allotted time, if the report of the mother to the probation officer is satisfactory, they will be absolved; if not, three additional weeks of duty will be imposed.

There wouldn't be so much thoughtless and irresponsible action among the young did parents insist on habits of industry for their children. Turning them loose in the streets when holiday times come is placing them in the very midst of temptations. It's easier of course—for the minute. Until they are trained in helping, children's efforts are often clumsy. It's so much easier to do the work ourselves than to listen to the protests of a reluctant child, or patiently explain over and over.

And yet—are we good parents if we merely feed our children's bodies? Are we good parents when we merely see that our Johnnie has the latest modes in small boy attire, and that Susie's embroidered frocks and perky hair bows are the nicest on the block? Parent-hood would be comparatively easy, did it merely consist of the care of little bodies. But the caring for small souls is something so infinitely deeper and more important.

Are we really good parents?

CORNERSTONE TO BE LAID NEXT SUNDAY

Congregational Church to Mark Important Ceremony With Program

The cornerstone for another of Glendale's beautiful religious buildings will be laid Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Congregational church.

This beautiful new edifice is being erected on the site of the former church, at the corner of North Central avenue and Wilson. The church design is the conception of Carleton Monroe Winslow, one of the most prominent and thoroughly trained architects of Los Angeles, and reflects in a marked degree his sense of the artistic and beautiful. It is of a modified Spanish type of architecture.

The cost of constructing this new building will be approximately $80,000 and this money has already been pledged.

The building committee included Blake Franklin, chairman; Thomas White, E. D. Yard, Hartley Shaw and Charles B. Guthrie.

The cornerstone for the new building was donated by C. H. Ambrosch of the Glendale Monument works, 1727 South Brand boulevard. The main address of the afternoon will be given by Rev. George F. Kennett, D. D., superintendent of the Southern California Congregational conference. Behind the cornerstone will be deposited documents and papers will be deposited to preserve. A copy of the Southern California conference minutes, photographs of Dr. E. H. Willisford, first pastor of the church, and Rev. C. M. Calderwood, present pastor; photographs of the interior and exterior of the old church building; copy of the constitution and by-laws of the church and a list of its present members; preliminary announcement of the building project; newspaper clippings regarding the church building project; announcement of the cornerstone laying, program of same; copies of the Glendale Daily Press and Evening News, Los Angeles Times and Congregational list and copy of the architect's plans and the history of the church.

WEDNESDAY CLUB IS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. ROACH

Delightful Meeting Marked by Radio Concert, Sewing and Music

Members of the Wednesday club were delightfully entertained on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Roach, West California avenue. Large baskets of many colored dahlias were used in decorating, and at noon a cafeteria luncheon was served.

The afternoon was devoted to sewing and music, the ladies enjoying a radio concert. Guests included Mrs. Charles Sanders, J. F. Hearnshaw, William A. Gibson, William A. Nash, Julia Perkins, Charles Freshman of Los Angeles, H. A. Reed of Long Beach, and Miss Clara Ringert.

YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE MEETS

Officers for the ensuing year were installed last night at a meeting of the Young Ladies' Institute, held in the new Odd Fellows' hall, corner of West Broadway and Orange street.

Miss Quill and Miss Katherine Kelly, of Los Angeles, installed the officers who are president, Miss Henrietta Schmidt; first vice-president, Mrs. Frank Clark; second vice-president, Miss Gertrude Zimmerman; recording secretary, Miss Gertrude Koverman; financial secretary, Miss Anna Vandiver; treasurer, Miss Margaret Sharpe; marshal, Miss Henrietta Meek; trustee, Virginia Chappius.

Mrs. F. J. Salmacia, retiring president, was presented with a beautiful gold rosary in gold case. This was a gift from the Glendale society. At the close of the evening, a refreshment course was served.

LOST ATLANTIS, THE ANTE-DILUVIAN WORLD

By HANNAH L. HUKILL, M. D., Physician and Chiropractor.

Synopsis: A Press editorial stated the United States government had run up a flag on the new island, which lately lifted its head in the Southern Pacific. The preceding articles have sought to briefly explain that the rising land was the ancient continent of Lemuria, which was destroyed by volcanic cataclysm over a million years ago. Geological findings indicate this continent existed and, because of the great earthquake activity in the bed of the ocean, geologists say it will rise again.

THE TESTIMONY OF THE SEA

The latest authentic news of the lost Atlantis comes in a very direct and substantial way. Our good American ship "Dolphin" and the British "Challenger" have brought back with them some wonderful and interesting stories of the deep-sea soundings they made of the bed of the Atlantic ocean, which seem to positively confirm the fact of the existence of this great continent. Through the scientific explorations made by these vessels, the bed of the whole ocean was mapped out, with the result that an immense bank or ridge of great elevation is shown to exist in mid-Atlantic. This vast area was found to be 1000 miles in width and between 2000 and 3000 miles in length, extending from a point on the coast of the British Isles southward to the coast of South America at Cape Orange, then south easterly to the coast of Africa and then southward to Tristan d'Acunha. This ridge rises almost sheer about 9000 feet from the ocean depths around it, while the Azores, St. Paul, Ascension and Tristan d'Acunha are the peaks of land which still remain above water. A line of 3500 fathoms, or 2,000 feet, of Atlantic to be the deepest parts of the Atlantic, but the higher parts of the ridge are only a hundred to a few hundred fathoms beneath the sea.

The soundings also showed that the ridge is covered with volcanic debris, of which traces are to be found right across the ocean to the American coast. Indeed the fact that the ocean bed, particularly north of the Azores, has been the scene of volcanic disturbances on a gigantic scale, and that too with a quite measurable period of geologic time, is conclusively proved by the investigations made during these deep-sea expeditions.

Between Spain and the American shore there is quite an elevation above the sea bed, which is a portion of the faithful vessel, has been called "Dolphin's Ridge," and between Africa and South America another portion of the submerged land has been named "Challenger Ridge," to commemorate the British vessel. That part of the ocean now known as "Dolphin's Ridge" was originally the island of Poseidonis, which was the last portion of Atlantis to be wholly beneath the waves, 954 B. C. This island was supposed to be the home of the gods and goddesses in Greek mythology and it was referred to as the Garden of Eden, the Garden of Hesperides, the Elysian Fields, the Gardens of Alcinous and many other appellations. Homer sung of this far-famed island in the Odyssey. Plato in his Critias gives a quite a detailed account of the history, art, manners and customs of the people as well as a minute description of a wonderful city, its magnificent courts, enclosures and entrances. He placed the scene of its glories in Poseidonis, not knowing there had been a whole continent submerged and that this island was only a remnant of it. Those fabulous tales, told by the old temple priests of Egypt, were descriptive of that original abode of the Divine Kings, the "City of the Golden Gate," and not a later city built on Poseidonis thousands of years after the first had been submerged. This city of the Golden Gate was built at the height of civilization and was the capital of the Atlantean empire, being known far and wide from a gate of gold, which was an emblem of the power of its emperors. In this city there ruled for ages a dynasty of perfect men known to tradition as the Divine rulers of the Golden Gate. These rulers were adepts and initiates of the great brotherhood, as well as being men of remarkable wisdom and power well qualified to direct the destinies of a mighty empire. The ruling class were the Toltecs, being the third sub-race of the Atlanteans, and they ruled by virtue of their superiority. To this race belonged the aristocrats and the middle class, but its pure type was never found among the lower classes of humanity. They were of

DIRT IS FLYING AT VERDUGO PARK

Preparing for Big Credit Association Celebration There

It is evident from the brisk way in which city employees have undertaken the work of making the city park on Verdugo road fit for the big municipal picnic to be held August 16, that they not only are not allowing any grass to grow under their feet, but are removing with great celerity any grass already grown which will interfere in any way with picnic plans. Secretary Pilling, who visited the park Wednesday, is delighted with the progress made and the possibilities that are developing. Grading is proceeding on the meadow and garden land, and it is evident a splendid field for games will be available.

The basement of the dancing pavilion, which is to be permanent, and which measures 75x100 feet, is constructed, and a force of men is at work clearing brush from paths and hillsides. L. de Waard is superintending the city's employees.

Short as the interval has been since the park was selected, tables for the picnicers have already been made and a shady place selected where they will be arranged. Attached to each table on each side is a bench, so there will be no trouble about places for the diners to sit.

Under the efficient promotion work of Secretary Pilling, seconded by the universal interest in the picnic, the stunt program is coming along with equal rapidity.

C. J. Hatz has undertaken to sponsor the "Ladies' mail driving contest," and will offer as first prize a pair of hole-proof ladies' silk hose; second prize, a lady's silk breakfast cap; third prize, pongee handkerchief.

A. Robinson of the Men's Shop who is especially enthusiastic, has undertaken to be the patron of two contests. In the potato race for boys up to 16, he will offer as first prize a pair of adjustable lock stilt; second prize, a Tom Sawyer shirt; third prize, a felt Beanie cap. But it is in the prize walk contest for boys and men that he lets himself go. Here he is offering as a first prize a $7.50 Stetson hat; second prize, a $5 Manhattan shirt; third prize, a $2.50 Wilson shirt. Mr. Pilling says there will be no limit placed on contestants, and it is expected that Postmaster Jackson, who shakes a wicked toe in the foot race, will be one of the contestants. The Irish linen store will promote the stout ladies' race, and for this William Moore is offering as first prize a pair of fine Irish linen towels; second prize, a linen dresser scarf; third prize, a real Madeira handkerchief.

Dr. David A. Baker wants to give the first award for the most beautiful unmarried lady on the grounds, and says it will be a wedding cake to be presented when the wedding comes off.

If the program toward which the committee is working is realized, about 60 stunts will be pulled off during the day.

It is expected that applications for concessions will soon begin coming in. Mr. Hunter of the Glendale Paint and Paper company, is chairman of that committee.

JONES CLUB TO RALLY MONDAY

Glendalians Asked to Attend Meeting Regardless of Politics

Citizens of Glendale who are interested in having the next governor of California elected from Glendale, are asked to attend a meeting at the high school next Monday night for the purpose of organizing a "Jones for Governor" club. All who are interested in Mr. Jones' candidacy are invited, regardless of their political affiliations.

PERRY W. WEIDNER ENDORSES BRINKOP

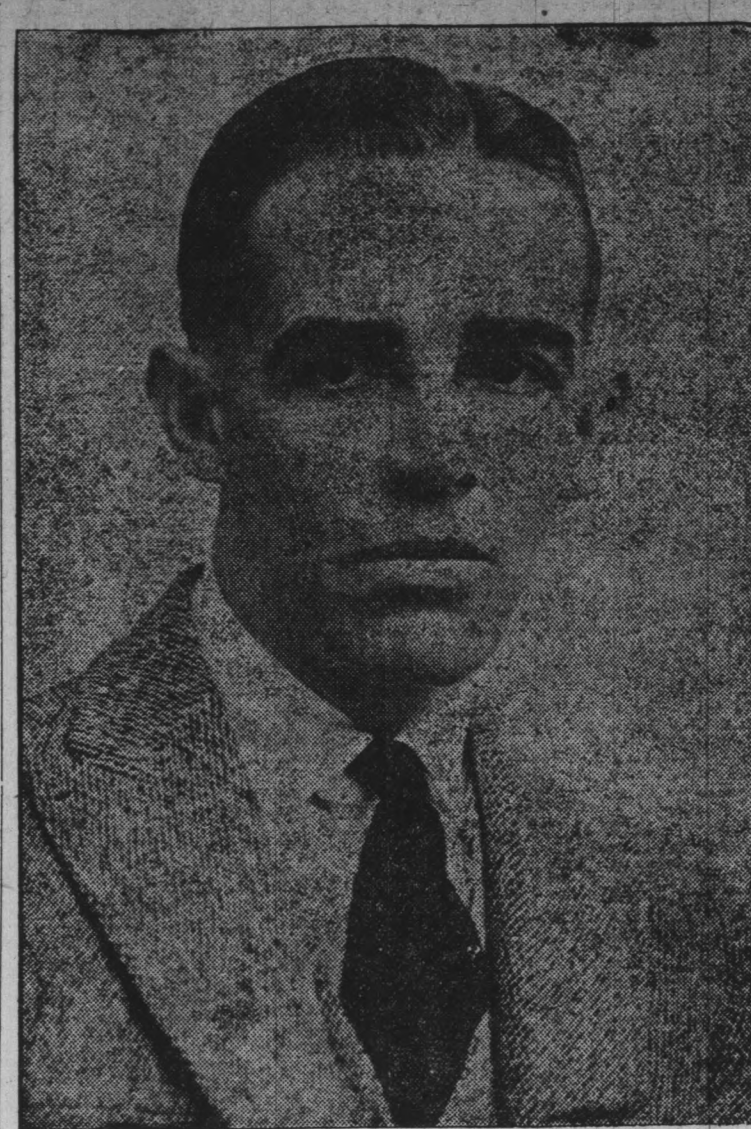

Another endorsement which carries with it the support of a powerful body of men, has just reached the headquarters of Walter Brinkop, who is out for the republican nomination for state treasurer at the August primaries. This endorsement came from Perry W. Weidner, of Los Angeles.

In speaking of Brinkop, Perry Weidner says: "I am gratified to learn that Captain Walter Brinkop has concluded to place his name before the people of California with the hope of becoming state treasurer."

"In my association with Captain Brinkop I have learned to regard him very highly. He is an aggressive, clean-minded, upstanding gentleman of exemplary habits, and I am satisfied that if he is so fortunate as to be elected by the people, they will have a most faithful servant. He has a brilliant war record and his prominent connection with the American Legion testifies his standing among his former comrades. It is my hope that the ballot will be decidedly in his favor and I shall do all I can to bring about this result."

Perry Weidner is well known to Californians and is making good his promise of active support by organizing his friends solidly behind Brinkop.

a warrior nature, going all over the world and subduing its inhabitants. It was this strong branch of the Atlanteans who built such a remarkable civilization in ancient Peru later, which to the present day is causing much wonder among archeologists, because of the departed glory that once flourished there in the land of the Incas.

PURELY PERSONAL

Mrs. G. Irvin Royce, her daughter, Miss Zoe Royce, and her granddaughter, Marjorie Kimlin, Mrs. Ringstrom, matron of the Glendale sanitarium, and her daughter, Harriet, have just returned from Ocean Park, where they spent a week. They found the beach city crowded with pleasure seekers.

Mrs. Rosa Kimlin, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cristy, of Lodi, have come to Glendale to locate permanently, and are looking for a house. Mr. Cristy has accepted a position with the Harrower laboratory. Mrs. Kimlin is the mother of Councilman Clarence E. Kimlin.

At the Battle Creek reunion picnic, held Sunday at Brookside park, about 200 were present, including quite a delegation from the Glendale sanitarium and the Seventh-day Adventist church.

Mrs. H. B. Ellis of 114 North Orange street is entertaining two friends who arrived Wednesday from Denver, Mrs. Nora Murphy and Mrs. Augusta Haskell.

Mrs. Ferd Miedling and Mrs. Ralph Penland of Glendale will attend a sorority luncheon today, given at Fullerton.

Miss Jane Dick, who is librarian at the Mare Island naval hospital, will be home the middle of August to spend two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dick, 309 North Louise street. She will bring with her a house guest, Mrs. Ann Mays, and the two will motor down.

The Misses Mary and Elizabeth Watkins of 112 South Everett street entertained at luncheon today, Mrs. Jennie Kinnman and Mrs. Georgia Murphy, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. C. W. Kinnman of Patterson avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson of 246 North Orange street entertained Wednesday evening, M. P. White of Hollywood, brother of Mrs. Hutchinson. Mr. White is an internal revenue collector for Southern California.

The Philathea class of the First Methodist church will hold its July party Friday evening, July 28, at the home of the Misses Elsie and Agnes Verity, 611 West Broadway. All members are especially urged to attend as this is the last party to be given by the present social committee, and it is going to be a good one.

Miss Madeline Love and mother, Mrs. T. G. Love, of 220 West Elk avenue, and Miss Murray Longley of 431 West Harvard street, leave Friday for Catalina, where they will spend several days.

Mr. H. M. Way, of 301 North Brand boulevard, is in San Bernardino today on a business trip. He is expected to return home this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Way, of 301 North Brand boulevard, and daughter, Mrs. Cheffney, and Virginia, enjoyed a motor trip to Long Beach, Tuesday.

Mrs. C. E. Parker entertained at dinner at Somerset Farm, Verdugo road, on Sunday, Mrs. E. A. Whitaker and her daughter, Miss Ina Whitaker. They expect to sail for Europe in about three weeks.

Miss Winifred Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of this city, is to assist at a tea to be given at the Los Angeles Country club this afternoon by Mrs. Keeling Pulliam, jr., of Los Angeles, formerly of Lexington, Ky. Tomorrow, Miss Jones will leave for Catalina, where she will be a guest for ten days at a house party which is being given by Mrs. Pulliam, the guests being maids and matrons of the younger set.

Mr. John L. Wiley, of Seattle, Wash., called on Dr. Hannah L. Hukill, of 102 West California avenue. Mr. Wiley likes Glendale very well, and may locate here permanently.

STRIKE PEACE IS REVIVED

Seniority Principal Barrier to Settlement Thru President

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Hope for settlement of the railroad strike was suddenly revived today as leaders of the shop crafts union, eastern railroad executives, and a member of the railroad labor board gathered for conference with President Harding.

The President has embarked upon a series of informal conferences with all parties to the controversy, which he hopes will make possible a concrete step toward a quick settlement.

With the seniority rights of the strikers the principal barrier to peace, Harding is making an attempt to induce the eastern rail executives to recede from their position that the strikers will lose all seniority standing.

He is appealing to the striking shopmen to return to work, promising to use his influence to obtain a rehearing of their wage dispute before the railroad labor board.

The White House was silent on the gathering of officials, and it was not known whether Harding intended to hold conferences with individual groups or have a general discussion.

Leaders of the disputants responding to call are B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking shopmen; the six international presidents of the shop crafts organization; Timothy Healy, head of the stationary firemen and oilers' union; T. De Witt Cuyler, chairman of the association of railway executives; L. E. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson; W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania, already here, and other executives are expected.

A. O. Wharton, labor member of the railroad labor board, accompanied Jewell's party.

This group has the power to negotiate a settlement. Atterbury, Cuyler and Loree are regarded as the leaders of the powerful eastern systems blocking the way to peace through their refusal to make any concessions to the strikers.

Replying to a telegram to J. Cleve Dean, chairman of the Railway Employees' Publicity association, Chattanooga, Tenn., the President said:

"I invite you to urge the striking railway workmen to accept the decision of the American railroad labor board, acting under authority of the law, which must be supreme, and return to work under that decision, until you and I and every one else interested in American welfare may join in asking the railroad labor board to give a rehearing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt."

COLORADO CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT UNDER WAY

Trees Being Removed and Grading to Begin in Near Future

The past week workmen have been busy on the campus of the Colorado school, removing trees and rubbish from what was known as the Henning property, which was purchased by the board of education to round out the playground. Grading is to begin in a few days and it will be made as fit as possible for the games played by the boys and girls of the school as well as visiting teams who play with them.

Since the state adopted the amendments to the school law making the physical training of all children, girls as well as boys obligatory, good athletic fields in connection with all the schools have become necessary. Should a reorganization of grade and high schools be effected in Glendale, which would bring them all under one head, and should the present high school become a junior high, a lot of pupils from the intermediate would be transferred, that would become a grade school, and there might be further need for the Colorado school. It has a very fine location and there would be no difficulty in selling the property should that come to pass.

IS THIS YOUR LOST MOTORCYCLE?

There is a motorcycle and side car at the police headquarters awaiting identification. It is the outfit left at the home of Mrs. Weaver, 644 Montrose avenue, Montrose, about a week ago. The boy who left it stated that it would not work, his desire being to leave it there until he could secure a mechanic. It remained there one week at the conclusion of which Mrs. Weaver, fearing the machine was stolen, called the Glendale police and asked that the outfit be removed.

EVERYONE WANTS TO BOSS PARK

Have you sent in your application for the position of caretaker of the new Glendale municipal park? If not, please do not fail to do so at the earliest possible moment. Up to the present time a whole trunk-load—about four thousand to be exact, of applications have been received by City Manager Reeves, but no selection has as yet been made.

The soon-to-be-elected park commissioner will doubtless take a month off to decide who is the most efficient applicant for this position.

CONCEALED WEAPON

Officer—Not yet, your honor. But I expect to. He's a professional sword swallower.

SPEND VACATIONS IN GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH

Sons of the Revolution Encourage the Study

Many young men this summer are spending their vacations hunting up their pedigree in search of Revolutionary ancestors. The Sons of the Revolution is encouraging them, as a summer drive for new members has been started.

The attendance at the historical and genealogical library of the society, Sons of the Revolution, at 424 South Broadway, Los Angeles, is greater than ever before in the history of the society.

Many of the young men seeking information about their ancestors are from other parts of the country, from Texas, Colorado and the northwest. Other points throughout the country are also very well represented.

Searchers from surrounding towns and districts of Los Angeles are finding information here which their local libraries have failed to collect. The accumulation of material in the reference library of the society, Sons of the Revolution, is the largest owned by any patriotic society anywhere in the United States.

POSTMASTER GETS SURPRISE PARTY

Returning Home Finds House Filled With Merry Party

D. Ripley Jackson, Glendale's postmaster, was the victim of a pleasant conspiracy in which he accuses his wife of having a hand, although she asserts her innocence.

Anyway, on returning from the movies Tuesday night, with Mrs. Jackson, he found his home "littered up like a church," and on entering found a merry company who had come to spend the balance of the evening. Boys of the Shrine club orchestra were there to furnish music, and dancing went on until about 11 p. m., when a supper was served.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ratner, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dibern, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon, Dr. and Mrs. Belyea, Mr. and Mrs. George H. King, Dr. Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry White, Mrs. H. B. Ellis, Captain and Mrs. W. B. Kelly.

80 CHAMBERS' SECRETARIES DUE

Convention of Boosters to Be Entertained At Woodlands

Plans for the big convention of Chamber of Commerce secretaries of the southern section, to be held in Glendale Saturday, have been perfected and acceptances from more than 80 association members have been received. As the presidents of the associations represented in a good many instances will accompany the secretaries, it means an attendance of 125, or thereabouts.

At it becomes evident the good time they are to have as guests of the Newport company, in Verdugo Woodlands, and later at the 5:30 banquet to be served in the chambers of commerce, the iron enters the soul of James M. Rhoades. This organization in which he is vice-president, is very dear to him.

It is the first time it has been entertained in Glendale, and Saturday he has looked forward to playing the host and toastmaster. But in all probability, while the feast of reason and flow of soul are in progress, he will be locked up in the juryroom taking ballots on the guilt or innocence of Madalynne Obenchain. It is hard times, but the good citizen is often called upon to make sacrifices for his country.

The guests are to arrive at 10 o'clock and be taken for an auto ride around the city, and in this connection members of the chamber and citizens generally who have automobiles are asked to lend them that the visitors may have this pleasure and go away from Glendale boosters for our city, as they are sure to do if they have a chance to see it.

As stated, they will be guests at a picnic luncheon, served by the Newport company in the beautiful little grove at the west end of Glorieta street in Verdugo Woodlands, and the afternoon session will be held in the company's pavilion there.

The program as furnished by Charles Bayer of the Los Angeles chamber, who is secretary of the association, includes the following addresses:

F. H. Hamilton, secretary of the Sawtelle chamber, on "A Constructive Program."

A. L. Oiger, of the Long Beach chamber, on "Members and How to Get Them."

Carl Bush, of the Hollywood chamber, "Uniform Membership Cards."

In the evening, Prof. Stonier of the University of Southern California will make an after-dinner talk on public speaking.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Cavanaugh will contribute five vocal numbers, and Miss Hazel Linkogel two violin numbers.

Lon Haddock, of Glendale, has also been asked to speak.

BUSINESS BOOMING IN THIS FEDERAL RESERVE DISTRICT

Summary of Conditions
Reflects in Report of Southern California

Indications of increasing business activity in this district, which first appeared during April and May, have multiplied during June. Prices of the principal products of the district have either remained firm or advanced slightly, reflecting similar tendencies in national prices. The United States bureau of labor's wholesale price index which increased 3 1/2 per cent during May, advanced 1.35 per cent during June and is now 8.7 per cent above the low point of January, 1922. Charges to individual accounts of depositors in banks of the 20 principal cities were 5.6 per cent greater in amount than in June, 1921. Sales of 32 representative department stores for the second consecutive month were greater in dollar value than they were in the same month of 1921, the increase of June, 1922, over June, 1921, being 3 per cent. As average retail prices have changed but little during this period, the physical volume of merchandise now moving at retail is evidently increasing. At wholesale, also, the same condition prevails. Of the ten reporting lines of trade, nine advise that the dollar values of their sales for June, 1922, exceeded those of June, 1921. Employment has increased throughout the district so generally that involuntary unemployment has practically disappeared. A wage increase in the lumber industry of approximately 10 per cent occurred during the month. It is the first increase since the business recession began in 1920. With the exception of San Francisco, the principal manufacturing cities of the district report steady increases in the number of men employed each month, and a substantial increase of manufacturing activity as compared with June, 1921. An unfavorable aspect of the business situation is the increasing number of business failures reported. Productive activity also continues to increase. Lumber and log production during June exceeded the figures of the previous months of the year, and were 50 per cent, and 20 per cent, respectively, in excess of output in June, 1921. Of the

When the city's last street has been dug up,
With trenches a yard or two wide,
When the last pavement's mangled and lighted
With red lanterns down either side,
When the last gas machine has exploded
And the last asphalt under the plow,
We shall rest, please the Lord, and we'll need it
For we never get any rest now.

When the last cable tunnel is driven,
And the last main been dug for the gas,
When the ear drums of us have been riven,
And the last oil been smeared on the grass,
When the last danger sign has been posted,
And the last road that leads anywhere
Has been closed, please the Lord there are airships
And they cannot dig holes in the air.

When the last wires and conduits and cables
Have been tangled all up in the street,
When the last pile of bricks on the sidewalk
Has made the confusion complete,
We think we shall rest from this chaos,
And we will—for five minutes or ten,
And then all the wreckers will come back
And tear all the streets up again.

ber of men employed each month, and a substantial increase of manufacturing activity as compared with June, 1921. An unfavorable aspect of the business situation is the increasing number of business failures reported.

Productive activity also continues to increase. Lumber and log production during June exceeded the figures of the previous months of the year, and were 50 per cent, and 20 per cent, respectively, in excess of output in June, 1921. Of the 17 copper mines of the district, eight are now operating, compared with two a year ago, and their May, 1922, output of 23,613,000 pounds of copper was nearly 1,000,000 pounds larger than the April, 1922, output. Petroleum production during June was less than 1 per cent smaller than the record output of the preceding month, and stocks of crude oil continued to increase to 43,500,000 barrels, being on June 30, 46 per cent in excess of stocks held a year ago. On July 15 a reduction of approximately 25 cents per barrel in crude oil prices was announced, the first change since the reduction of 25 cents per barrel in August, 1921. Gasoline stocks on May 31, 1922, had declined 14.3 per cent during the month, and were 18.7 per cent less than they were a year ago, on May 31, 1921. Building activity during June was exceeded only during April.

The grain crops of the district have suffered on account of unusually dry weather during June, and the total wheat yield is now estimated at 103,211,000 bushels, compared with a final yield of 122,000,000 bushels during 1921. The hot weather has been unfavorable also to the growth of forage crops and pastures in the livestock areas of the district, but the condition of the stock in most sections is still reported to be good. Warm weather, which damaged the grain crops and pastures of the district, was beneficial for crops of ripening fruit. The yields of peaches and pears, generally, and of the other commercial fruits in California, will be almost without exception larger than they were last year. Shipments of green fruits to eastern markets are proceeding normally. Fruit canners in California are planning a 1922 pack which will be about 15 to 20 per cent larger than the pack of 8,500,000 cases in 1921, with opening prices, announced early in July, slightly higher than the prices quoted for that pack.

Notwithstanding the increasing activity of production and business, bank credit generally continues to be abundant and cheaper. Prevailing interest rates charged by banks in the larger centers are 5 1/2 to 6 per cent, and in the agricultural regions decreased slightly during June. Effective July 8, the rediscount rate of this bank was reduced from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent for all classes of paper. A temporary increase in borrowings by the city banks from the reserve bank attending the closing of the fiscal year on June 30 was almost cancelled by July 12, total rediscounts of this bank on that date being $42,000,000, compared with a total of $40,000,000 on June 14. Despite the increase in agricultural activity at this season throughout the district, repayments by country banks of their rediscounts with the reserve bank in general continued to exceed their new borrowings.

FINES FOLLOW UNLICENSED FIRES

Stuart J. Flintham, county forester and fire warden, reports the following arrests and convictions in violations of city and county fire ordinance:

Ah Ming was fined $100 by Judge Chesboro for burning without a permit in Santa Inez canyon.
Joe Kosta of La Crescenta was fined $75 by Judge Emery of Glendale for burning without a permit and allowing the fire to escape.

Ira H. Nance of Tujunga was fined $25 by Judge Emery of Glendale for burning without a permit.
Harlan West of Pine canyon was fined $50 by Judge Libby at Fairmont for allowing a fire to escape from his control.

O. U. HULL VISITS FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Distinguished Orange Co.
Prohibitionist Delivers
Prayer

O. U. Hull, the distinguished leader of the prohibition forces of Orange county, visited the First Methodist church prayer meeting last night and delivered an impressive prayer. He spoke as follows: "Oh Lord, our Heavenly Father, as we come before Thee this evening we have much to thank Thee for and much to ask for."

"We thank Thee for Christ, the light of the world, and that he gave his life that we might be redeemed from the bondage of sin. Who was it, kind Father, that mocked, scorned and crucified the Savior? Was it not the very people who should have been his friends and supporters? But we thank Thee, kind Father, that Thy infinite power was sufficient to raise Christ from the tomb and that his spirit lives to guide us in the way of truth and righteousness. "Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Eugene Chaffin, who gave the best years of his life that he devoted to the service of his country and the people of this nation might be redeemed from the bondage of the liquor traffic, the greatest curse that Satan ever persuaded man to fasten upon his fellow man."

"Who was it, kind Father, that mocked, reviled and scorned Eugene Chaffin and the force that he represented? Was it not the very people who should have been his friends and supporters? But we thank Thee, kind Father, that while thousands of the politicians turned their backs upon truth and righteousness and followed the wiles of Satan, Eugene Chaffin kept the faith, and so he stood with his face toward Zion and beckoned to Thy servants. They were encouraged to go forward to do Thy will, relying upon Thy strong arm, and Thou didst not forsake them, for Thou hadst promised that where two or three are gathered in Thy name, that Thou wouldst be with them, and we thank Thee that with the help of Thy guiding hand Thy servants were enabled to defeat the most unrighteous scheme that Satan and his angels have ever concocted and placed before the American people, and we thank Thee that with the defeat of that satanic scheme there came the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States.

"Heavenly Father, we pray that Thou wilt inspire in the citizens of this nation a patriotism that will defend our constitution in its entirety from the onslaught of its traitors.

"Fbid, O Lord, that we should be so dead in trespasses and sins that we know not of the activities of the enemies of righteousness in their efforts to undermine and annul the constitution.

"When we remember the infidelity that has been taught in Los Angeles during the last fifteen years, is it any wonder that her citizenship has become so debauched that the angels of heaven have proved herself a traitor to the constitution of the United States, and is it any wonder that we have burglary, murder, robbery and rapine all about us?

"Help us, Heavenly Father, to understand that we are in the grip of the most abominable political machine that ever cursed America, a machine the wheel of which is Satan himself, and the main spokes of which are Satan's henchmen.

"Oh, Lord of hosts! Thou who are able to do all things, we pray that Thy infinite power may be manifested in producing from that satanic political machine a full and complete financial report of the millions upon millions of money that it has grafted from the people of America, for Thou, Lord, knowest that no power has ever been discovered on earth that is able to divulge such a report from the secret recesses of its infernal machinery, and Thou knowest, Heavenly Father, that the people who have contributed to that fund have a right to demand such a report.

"We pray, Heavenly Father, that Thou wilt so loose the scales from our eyes that we may be able to see and to understand the inner workings of that most autocratic and un-American political corporation that ever fastened itself, like a leech, upon the body politic of our beloved country, and when the loyal citizens of this republic shall be able to see in its true light that arch enemy to truth, justice and liberty, they will rise up in their American patriotism and they will send that old contraption to Hades, from whence it came, and then, and not till then, will there be a chance for this nation to become a government of and for and by the people.

"Heavenly Father, help us to understand that the chief cornerstone of Americanism is the principle that the liberty of the individual shall be sacrificed for the good of the masses, and may the day speedily come, we pray Thee, when our politicians, the leaders of the people, may be so filled with the light of the living Christ that they will teach truth and patriotism instead of smearing the eyes of the people with soft soap and filling our ears with infidelity; and may we all, kind Father, be so filled with that divine light that we will put on the whole armor of faith and stand as loyal soldiers of the cross for the things that Christ stands for, true Americanism.

should our politicians lead us around through the brush and the brambles, till we become so hypnotized and bewildered that we scarcely know straight up?

"We pray, Heavenly Father, that Thou wilt so fill us with the light of the living Christ that we may be able to know and to understand the one and the only true source of government in a democracy, and help us to understand that Thou wilt hold every citizen responsible for the part they play, or refuse to play, in making that government conform to Thy will. Help us to understand that we mock God when we pray, 'Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth,' unless we are willing to put our shoulders to the wheel and help to bring about the condition for which we pray for. Christ teaches that the prayer that is not backed by a ballot is an abomination unto Thee. Help us to understand that our service is acceptable to Thee only as we strive to serve our fellow men, and that there is no place where we can serve our fellow men so effectively as at the ballot box.

"Help us to understand that as citizens of this republic, and as servants of the living Christ, it becomes our duty to make America a safe and fit dwelling place for thy people, and that politics is the only thing that Thou doth make imperative upon every human being, according to their intelligence and their opportunity for obtaining light.

"Help us, Heavenly Father, to understand that our politics are simply the expression of our love for Christ and our fellow man, and that just as long as Satan can keep righteous politics out of the prayer meeting and the class meeting and the Sunday school, he will continue to grow fat and strong, as in the past.

"We pray, Heavenly Father, that Thou wilt give us the face of the eagle, that we may be able to discern the truth as it is in Thee, and give us, we pray Thee, the face of the lion, that we may have the courage to defend the truth from its defamers.

"Loving Father, Thou who art able to lift us above the muck and the mire, we pray that Thou wilt deliver us from the stupidity of the ox which patiently submits to him who can wield the lash with the greatest vigor, and furnishes the biggest pile of fodder for his stomach.

"Help us, Heavenly Father, to understand that the most satanic political machine that ever cursed this nation is the Anti-Saloon league of America, and give us such a hungering and thirsting after righteousness that we will walk in that straight and narrow pathway of Christ, the light of the world. We ask it in his name. Amen."

MRS. GLANNETTE IS HONORED IN GLENDALE

"Many happy returns of the day" and similar greetings were heard for the eighty-sixth time on Tuesday by Mrs. J. C. Glannette of 454 West Riverdale, for it was her eighty-sixth birthday! A large family picnic was given in her honor on that day, at Brookside park. Mrs. Glannette was born in Pennsylvania, but has lived in California for the last ten years. She is the mother of 12 children and of 73 grandchildren and great grandchildren.
